

NEW FROM MEN'S STUDIES PRESS

What's Up with the Brothers?

Essays and Studies on African-American Masculinities

Edited by Whitney Harris and Ronald T. Ferguson

What Up with the Brothers? is an examination of African-American masculinities in our times as seen through the scholarly efforts of African-American thinkers. This book goes beyond old paths and shifts the paradigm to ask questions that challenge the conventional wisdom about the African-American male experience. Few stones are left unturned as the book covers topics ranging from family, art, employment, sexuality and masculinity as they relate to contemporary African-American males.

Editors: Whitney Harris, Ph.D., is Executive Director of the Diversity and Multiculturalism office for the Minnesota State Colleges and Universities system. Ronald T. Ferguson, Ph.D., is a sociology professor at Ridgewater College, Wilmar, MN.

Advanced Praise

“Harris and Ferguson’s collection of essays ... explores the construction of black masculinity historically and in situ. This book would be an asset for courses on gender and masculinity and racial identity.”

— Roberta L. Coles, Associate Professor of Sociology, Marquette University and author of Race and Family: A Structural Approach.

“Harris and Ferguson’s What’s Up with the Brothers? provides a comprehensive picture of Black masculinities and the challenges that face and confront African-American men today. This book will be an invaluable addition to students and academics in gender and cultural studies, social policy, education, sociology, psychology, media, and other similar disciplines.”

— Richard G. Majors, Director, Applied Centre of Emotional Literacy Leadership and Research (ACELLR) and co-author of Cool Pose and The American Black Male: His Present Status and Future.

“What’s Up with the Brothers? addresses the fact that the majority of scholarship on African-American men is focused on their short-comings and absences as African-American men. This book turns that corner and fills a significant gap in the literature on African-American men by focusing on their positive contributions as African-American men.”

— Earl Smith, Professor of Sociology and holder of the Rubin Distinguished Professorship in American Ethnic Studies, Wake Forest University and author of Race, Sport & the American Dream and African American Families.

“What’s Up with the Brothers? reaches across the vast terrain of concerns for African-American men, including employment, sports and recreation, and public representation, to illuminate the pitfalls and possibilities associated with improving their situation.”

— Alford A. Young Jr., Arthur F. Thurnau Professor, Sociology and Center for Afroamerican and African Studies, University of Michigan and author of The Minds of Marginalized Black Men.

©2010 / 172 pp / 978-1-931342-22-3 (pbk) / 978-1-931342-23-0 (cl) / 978-1-931342-24-7 (e-bk)

List: $20.00 (pbk) / $45.00 (cloth) / $20.00 (e-book)

WHAT'S UP WITH THE BROTHERS?

Essays and Studies on African-American Masculinities

CONTENTS

- Acknowledgement
- Introduction
- Chapter 1: Hegemonic Masculinities and Black Male Sex at All-Male Adult Theaters:
The Relational Perspective — Anthony Lemelle
- Chapter 2: Revisiting Hypermasculinity: Shorthand for Marginalized Masculinities? — Richard N. Pitt and George Sanders
- Chapter 3: The Declining Significance of Black Male Employment: Gendered Racism of Black Men in Corporate America — Ron Stewart
- Chapter 4: A Father's Performance of Masculinity as Seen through the Eyes of Two Sons: A Postmortem Exploration — Whitney Harris and James Harris
- Chapter 5: Young Black Males, the Hoop Game, and Masculine Identities — Reuben A. Buford May
- Chapter 6: Body and Soul: History, Memory, and Representations of Black Masculinity — Pellom McDaniels III
- Chapter 7: Becoming a Black Man — Ronald T. Ferguson
- Chapter 8: Psychological Distress among Black Men — Christina Jackson-Bailey
- Conclusion — Whitney Stewart Harris and Ronald T. Ferguson
- Contributors
- Index

Method of Payment

- Check or money order enclosed (USD currency only; prepayment required).
- Charge my VISA™ MasterCard™

Credit card number: _____ / _____ / _____ / _____

Expiration date (Mo/Yr): _____

Authorized signature: _____

Shipping Information

Name (please print): _____

Address: _____

City, State (Province), Zip: _____

*Phone # (daytime): (____) _____ Email address: _____

*This information (i.e., phone and email) used only if there is a problem or question about your order.

Mail form and payment to:

Men's Studies Press, P.O. Box 32, Harriman, TN 37748 USA
Or print form and use our secure fax (423-369-1125)

Add postage and handling charges (print books only):
USA Media mail – 1st book $5.00 / each add'l book $2.50.
International mail: 1st book $9.50 / each add'l book $4.00.

Contact: Jim Doyle, 423-369-2375 (doyle@mensstudies.com)
Website: www.mensstudies.info/WU.html